

A lesson to learn

Wai Nga Huen, Coco

Last week, Jacob participated in the English drama competition. But after the competition, everyone loves playing with him.

Last week was the English drama competition, however Jacob didn't prepare well. He didn't prepare the costumes nor recite the script. He didn't prepare for everything. He was very nervous and he didn't know what to do. The director knew it and shouted at him angrily, "what did you prepare in the past few weeks? I don't know what will you do next, but you must have the best performance on the stage!" Then Jacob went up to the stage and read out all the lines that he could remember.

Sadly, the audience laughed at him. His classmates Billy, Bobby and Grace said, 'This is the worst drama that I have ever seen! Haha...'. Jacob started to be more nervous and he forgot everything. He said, 'I...I...I... forgot!' Everyone looked at him and laughed. The director whispered, 'Hey! The show must go on! Keep going!' Jacob stopped speaking. Bobby shouted, 'Jacob, come back to the backstage. I don't want you to ruin the performance!' Grace laughed and Billy shouted, 'You are as stupid as a pig!' Everyone laughed at him.

Suddenly the lights turned off. Then, we heard a beautiful voice. Jacob sang. In the song, it told us not to laugh or bully others. Billy, Bobby and Grace got blushed and felt embarrassed. They fled out of the auditorium. In the meantime, everyone was very surprised and clapped to Jacob. After that, he told everyone that it was a part of his drama. He wanted to tell everyone not to laugh or bully others.

That is why everyone loves to play with him now. And he had a great performance on the stage successfully.