

A Voyage to Rainbow Land

Vanus Lai

'Where am I?' I asked myself in middle of the sea. Suddenly, I saw an island with a banner. 'Welcome to Rainbow Land' was written on the banner. I was very interested in it so I decided to go toward the island.

'Hello!' I heard a sound that was coming from behind me. I turned around and saw a girl with rainbow-coloured hair dressed up in a rainbow dress. 'What's your name? Why is your hair rainbow-coloured?' I asked interested. 'I am Charlotte, and all the things here are in rainbow-coloured!' The girl said. I turned around to see. 'Wow! Amazing!' I was very surprised. 'I guess you come from another place. Let me bring you on a tour around this island!' 'Sure!' I answered.

'This is the Rainbow Forest! All the plants here are made of cotton candy and chocolate. You can taste them!' 'Wow! Delicious!' I tasted the candies. 'This is the ice-cream Volcano. The ice-cream will continue to jet out! The flavours of the ice-cream will change after a period of time!' I thought this place was very interesting and full of novelty.

When we arrived at a place called 'Rainbow Donuts Mountain', we were very tired so we sat down to rest. I saw a flower that was very big and with pastel rainbow colours. I was very curious and walked near to observe it. I wanted to touch it. When my hand was likely to touch that flower, the flower suddenly moved and exposed it's sharp teeth! I was scared to death. 'Oh! Did you get hurt? You can't touch that flower! It will attack people!' Charlotte said. 'I will be more careful next time! Sorry!' I said.

The sun went down. We were very tired after travelling for a whole day. I rested in Charlotte's home and prepared to start my next journey.
